King County: Public Health Department, 2006 Health Report

Julia Patterson, Metropolitan King County Councilmember for District 5, introduced Dr. Charissa Fotinos, Seattle-King County Public Health Department Medical Director, who presented an overview of the 2006 Health of King County report. Dr. Fotinos stated that the report examined health outcomes and health-related behaviors, using data sources such as vital records, surveys, hospital discharge data, reportable conditions, and census information.
Dr. Fotinos reported that chronic diseases are the leading causes of death and illness in King County. The more common chronic diseases include cancer, heart disease, stroke, lung diseases, and diabetes. She noted that the prevalence of diabetes among adults is increasing, particularly in South King County, and HIV infection has now become a chronic condition (AIDS moved from the 8th to the 14th leading cause of death). Dr. Fotinos further noted that access to care is decreasing, and that excessive alcohol use is higher in King County than the rest of Washington and the nation.

Continuing, Dr. Fotinos reviewed the improvements in health, pointing out that mortality is decreasing, smoking is declining, motor vehicle injuries are dropping, firearm deaths are lower, and adolescent births are declining. Additionally, she reviewed the large and persistent disparities in health status and access to health care across racial and ethnic groups, income groups, areas of King County, and sexual orientation.

Dr. Fotinos listed what can be done to improve the health of King County, including working towards assuring universal health coverage and access to health care, building homes and communities that support physical activity and provide healthy indoor environments, and addressing social factors that affect health. Dr. Fotinos responded to Councilmember inquiries regarding drinking and driving, asthma, inactivity rates, and population shifts and growth. In conclusion, King County Councilwoman Patterson highlighted the disparity between life expectancy and the various racial and ethnic groups.

AUDIENCE COMMENT

Citizen Comment: Blake - Fairwood Incorporation

J. Paul Blake, 17627 133rd Pl. SE, Renton, 98058, requested the City's support for initiating the petition process to annex the Fairwood area into Renton's boundaries. He stated that the King County Boundary Review Board (BRB) recently recommended against the incorporation of the proposed City of Fairwood. Mr. Blake pointed out that the BRB determined that incorporation is not financially sustainable, and he noted some of the fiscal problems associated with the potential incorporation.

Mr. Blake reviewed Renton's recent economic developments such as the Seattle Seahawks headquarter relocation and the IKEA store redesign, saying that a greater Renton will make an even better Fairwood.
MOVED BY CORMAN, SECONDED BY LAW, COUNCIL ALLOW THE SPEAKER TWO ADDITIONAL MINUTES FOR HIS COMMENTS. CARRIED.

Mr. Blake stated that annexation movement supporters intend to organize efforts and collaborate, and he seeks the City's support for initiating the petition process to annex the Fairwood area into Renton.

Citizen Comment: Hulten - Maplewood Estates, Potential Annexation to Renton

Bill Hulten, 13836 SE 158th St., Renton, 98058, indicated that he recently spoke with a number of people within the Maplewood Estates development, which is contiguous (southeasterly) to the proposed Maplewood Addition Annexation, and reported that a majority of those he spoke with favored annexation of Maplewood Estates to Renton, and showed a lack of interest in becoming part of the Fairwood Incorporation.

Citizen Comment: Petersen - Highlands Area Redevelopment

Inez Petersen, 3306 Lake Washington Blvd. N., #3, Renton, 98056, recommended a modified urban village approach for the Highlands area redevelopment, which involves the following: flexible zoning that allows private property owners to decide their own futures; no declaration of blight; zoning that would not create non-conforming property; higher densities that coexist aesthetically with existing single-family dwellings and duplexes; opportunities for property owners to develop to higher densities, remodel their properties, or voluntarily sell to a developer; creation of low interest loans for property improvement; creation of a neighborhood maintenance covenant; allocation of police patrols commensurate with the population; and review of the City's code enforcement process.

Councilman Clawson clarified that what is anticipated with the proposed rezoning is not the creation of non-conforming properties but the creation of legal non-conforming properties.

Citizen Comment: McOmber - Highlands Area Redevelopment, Council Workshop

Howard McOmber, 475 Olympia Ave. NE, Renton, 98056, noted his interest in the outcome of the Council workshop scheduled for May 17th. Pointing out that major decisions are being made regarding the well-established Highlands neighborhood, he expressed the need for open mindedness about alternative solutions. Additionally, Mr. McOmber indicated his preference that single-family homes and duplexes remain legal and conforming. He urged the City not to rush the redevelopment process.

Council President Corman explained that the meeting on May 17th is a workshop for Council to receive information, and Council will not be making any decisions. He reported that the location of the workshop was changed to the Council Chambers, and it will be taped and cablecast. Mr. Corman noted that although the public is welcome to attend, public testimony will not be taken at the workshop. He also noted that there will be further opportunity for audience comment before Council formally takes any action on the matter. Councilwoman Briere added that the information provided at the workshop will bring all Councilmembers up-to-date on the issues.
